CIO/CTS Statewide Cloud Readiness Assessment Agency Readiness Criteria Checklist

Overview:

The Unisys Readiness checklist is a tool used to centralize into a single list the major factors that are impacting the optimal choice, integration, or development of a service or solution. The scope is to be a dynamic repository for key factors and to document current assumptions and assessment for each factor, enabling further specific decisions in the advancement of the initiative and the selection of the solutions. The checklist must also support the revision of assumptions when factors of the focus change due to the advancement of the initiative or the sourcing decisions.

Business Drivers/Objectives

This category refers to relevant aspects of the business outcomes and main traits of the Cloud initiative. It includes these key factors:

• Type of Initiative and Mode — IT and cloud decisions are required by different stakeholders, types of initiatives, mode of operation, acquisition, and sourcing principles.

• Business Outcomes and Financials — Understanding the strategic business and financial drivers for a given initiative is key to defining the appropriate Cloud model. Initiatives ought to align to the agency's business strategic goals and the associated State of Washington enterprise architecture guidelines, as well as the preferred commercial models, including capital expenditure (CAPEX) versus operating expenditure (OPEX) preferences.

• Business Processes and Information Assets Affected — Cloud and IT services are there to support business processes and handle information. Current/new processes affected must be identified, as well as information managed and integration points involved. Dependencies on legacy components, operating technologies, and information affected must be identified and documented.

Cloud Readiness Criteria Checklist (CRCC) Tool

The Cloud Readiness Criteria Checklist (CRCC) Tool is a spreadsheet that uses weighted evaluation criteria to score and identify Agency hardware, software, and services that will be considered a “core service” and as a candidate for migration to a cloud solution (hereafter referred to generically as “components”) for their architectural compatibility for deployment readiness into the cloud. The criteria, scores, and weights are pre-populated in the tool; therefore, the tool can be used as-is to evaluate components for their cloud suitability. However, it is expected that the evaluation criteria, scores, and weights will be customized to fit the current State of Washington standards: 112.10 for Applications and 112.20 Infrastructure being currently evaluated (See Appendix A and B in the Agency Readiness Criteria Checklist document).

The CRCC is primarily focused on the architectural aspects of the application components being evaluated. It should be noted that a component that is not currently architecturally compatible with cloud deployment could be re-architected for cloud deployment. The CRCC tool makes no attempt to measure the effort, risk, or benefit associated with doing such re-architecting of components. The CRCC analysis is based solely on the current state of the application and infrastructure components being evaluated for cloud readiness. Other tools in the CloudForte Suite, like TDS Transition Manager and Stratozone, will measure the effort, risk, and financial benefit.

The CRCC tool consists of five worksheets: Instructions, Criteria, Weighting, Components (Application and Infrastructure), and Analysis. Each of these worksheets is described in greater detail in subsequent sections of the Agency Readiness Criteria Checklist document.

Instructions

The Instructions worksheet provides instructions for using the tool. A description for each of the other five worksheets is provided. A description of the typical customization(s) for each of the worksheets is also provided.

Evaluation Criteria
This Evaluation Criteria worksheet has been customized by the Unisys team for the OCIO and the State of Washington to list the evaluation criteria currently used within the framework. The framework is populated with 16 evaluation criteria. If desired, additional evaluation criteria can be added to provide extra scoring of component aspects not currently evaluated by the tool.

Weighting
The Weighting worksheet provides the ability to weight each of the evaluation criteria in the Criteria worksheet.

Component Scoring
The Component Scoring worksheet is used to evaluate each component (application, module, service, feature, etc.) for cloud deployment readiness.

Analysis
The Analysis worksheet propagates the scores from both the Component Scoring worksheet and the Weight worksheet. The scores from the Component Scoring worksheet are graphed as a two-dimensional scatter plot, as shown in the Analysis Tab.
