

Software Retirement Bulletin: September 2015

End of Extended Support: Once extended support ends, the manufacturer no longer issues security fixes, representing a high risk to the agency and the state. Agencies must plan to migrate from this software before the end of support date.

End of Support Reached July - September 2015

These products are past end of support. You must have an approved waiver and strong mitigations in place to continue to use these products.

- Microsoft Internet Explorer 6 • Support Ended 07/15/2015
- Microsoft Server 2003 • Support Ended 07/15/2015

End of Support Reached September - December 2015

If you haven't already, begin moving to updated versions of the software. You must have an approved waiver to use these products after end of support.

- Adobe Acrobat Standard 10 • Support Ends 11/15/2015
- Adobe Acrobat Pro 10 • Support Ends 11/15/2015
- Adobe Acrobat Reader 10 • Support Ends 11/18/2015

Retirements January - June 2016

You must have an approved waiver to use these products after end of support.

- Microsoft Internet Explorer 7 • Support Ends 01/02/2016
- Microsoft Internet Explorer 8 • Support Ends 01/02/2016
- Microsoft SQL Server 2005 • Support Ends 04/12/2016

End of Mainstream Support: Once mainstream support ends, the manufacturer will no longer issue software enhancements or fixes, representing a risk to the agency's business operations. The manufacturer will continue to issue security fixes for a period of time.

Mainstream Support Ended January - June 2015

Warning: There are potentially high impacts to migrate from these products. You should start planning now.

- Microsoft Server 2008 • Mainstream Support Ended 01/13/2015
- Microsoft Windows 7.0 • Mainstream Support Ended 01/13/2015

Mainstream Support Ends June - December 2015

- Microsoft Office 2010 • Mainstream Support Ends 10/13/2015
- Microsoft SharePoint Server 2010 • Mainstream Support Ends 10/13/2015
- Oracle Java SE 6 • Mainstream Support Ends 12/31/2015
- Oracle My SQL Database 5.5 • Mainstream Support Ends 12/31/2015